Story Lead-Character-Setting-Problem Organizer Example

Connect each story element to compose a great narrative beginning. Write your own character's problem and feeling.

Story Leads	Characters/Traits	Settings	Problem/Feeling
Crash! Boom! Slam! It was a year ago when	my 5 year old baby brother	streaked through my seven room house.	The flames were as hot as the sun. I was so terrified that I couldn't move a muscle.
"Is this horrible day ever going to end?" I asked while	a colossal one eyed giant	knocked at my bedroom door.
Last week at school, I hid when	a 30 foot long sharp toothed crocodile	escaped from the tree infested jungle.
I scurried as fast as a deer when	a ferocious fire breathing dragon	haunted my third grade classroom.
"Get me out of here," I shrieked while	an angry white polar bear	plunged in the cold murky water.
There wasn't a cloud in the sky when	a red and white freckled faced clown	roamed down a long narrow path.

Now write your great narrative beginning below.

Great Narrative Beginning

"Is this horrible day ever going to end?" I asked while a ferocious fire breathing dragon knocked at my bedroom door. The flames were as hot as the sun. I was so terrified that I couldn't move a muscle.